SIR,

I have the honour to state that rule n 39 of Section (d) of the Rules for the regulation of Cinematograph exhibitions in the Mysore State, lays down that " No building shall accommodate more than 20 persons per 100 square feet, or more than 20 persons per 3000 cubic feet. The proviso to the rule states that the licensing authority may, at any time and from time to time, vary the number of persons to be admitted to the premises or any part thereof.

2. An application for license under the aforesaid rules, in respect of building with dimensions noted in the margin, having been received in the Breadth 40 "			} show at 276 (maximum) on the basis of th

Height: 20 feet at centre and 10 feet on sides number of persons that could be allowed comes to 352 persons, if calculated with reference to the area of the auditorium. As it was thought that the intention of the rule was to adopt the smaller of the two numbers, the number of the audience was limited to 276 only.

3. The licensee having thereupon represented that the limitation laid down in the license would act as a hardship against him, as he had invested a large capital on the concern and he could not get an adequate return therefor, the number of persons that may be allowed for any one show was been raised to 400 temporarily.

4. In view of these circumstances, I solicit definite instructions whether the rule re: cubical contents should be followed, or that re area should be followed.
